Second Quarter 2015 Strategy and Recap

- Treasury yields fluctuated throughout the quarter:
 - Higher on strong economic news in the U.S.
 - Lower when the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) indicated that they are not yet ready to raise rates and as the situation in Greece remained unresolved.
- Overall, the trend was toward higher rates with the greatest increase on longer-term yields.
- PFMAM kept the portfolio's duration slightly shorter than the benchmark's duration because of uncertainty regarding the short-term direction of interest rates.
- The yield difference between the Treasury and Agency sectors remained narrow for most of the quarter and therefore, we favored Treasuries because investors were not being compensated for being in any other sector.
- We focused on maturities where the yield curve was steepest and therefore offered both high-current yields and strong potential for “roll down” benefit (the natural tendency for securities to appreciate as they age).

Third Quarter Investment Strategy

- We expect U.S. economic conditions to rebound from the first quarter 2015 contraction due to:
 - Rising consumer confidence;
 - Growth in personal spending; and
 - A stronger housing sector.
- Stubbornly low inflation remains a concern for policy makers. Market participants still expect the FOMC to initiate at least one rate hike in 2015, but the pace of subsequent increases is likely to be gradual.
- It is likely that developments in Europe and Asia will continue to cause market volatility as investors weigh the impact of possible outcomes on global economic conditions.
- Our strategy will be to focus on identifying relative value from among the full range of investment options. We will pay careful attention to sector allocation, yield curve placement, credit market dynamics, and individual security selection. These factors will likely be key drivers of performance in an uncertain rate environment.
- We will continue to monitor the spread relationship and further shift assets into Federal Agencies if the yield difference widens sufficiently.
